Native Canopy Tree Planting Program Continues This Fall

The Town continues to offer the Native Canopy Tree Planting Program to Town residents.

Under this program, the Town will purchase and install canopy trees on your property and provide a water bag to assist with the care needed in the critical first year after planting. You will be responsible for the long-term care of the tree once installed.

Trees are still available to be planted this fall and next spring, so if you have had to remove a tree and would like a replacement tree or if you have space in your yard for a new tree, this is a great opportunity to have a tree planted for you by the Town.

Since the inception of the program, the Town has planted 84 trees on private property. The Town is preparing its planting list for the fall, so please sign up soon. There are application forms on the Town website and in the Town Office.

Neighborhood Watch Program Grows

The Town is pleased to report that the Neighborhood Watch program continues to grow. Many residents have signed up to serve as new block captains. The volunteers will meet in the fall to review the program and discuss public safety and crime prevention. If you would like to volunteer to be a block captain, please contact Town Manager Todd Hoffman at 301-654-7144.

Back to School: Drive Safely

Fall and the start of a new school year is an exciting time in the Town. Our sidewalks become busy with students walking to and from Chevy Chase Elementary School and children waiting at bus stops throughout the Town. To ensure the safety of the students, we remind you to check the sidewalk that abuts your home to ensure that it is not blocked by vegetation. Also, we urge you to drive with caution and to observe all posted traffic and parking signs in Town.

We hope that all of our students have a great school year!

The FORECAST is published monthly by the Town of Chevy Chase, 4301 Willow Lane, Chevy Chase, MD 20815; townoffice@townofchevyCHASE.org; 301-654-7144; Kathy Strom, Editor. Copies are mailed to each address in the Town and posted on the Town website.

Greetings from the Mayor

Pat Burda

In early August, Pepco President Tom Graham, Vice President Jerry Pasternak and Engineer Gary Keeler came to the Town to meet with me, Town Manager Todd Hoffman, Councilmember Al Lang, and two representatives from the Village of Chevy Chase. I invited them to the Town to discuss their response to, and communication following, the June 29 storm and to review their plans for updating our aging infrastructure. For more detailed information about the meeting, please read the article on page 4 in this issue of the Forecast.

I did want to highlight a couple of items we discussed, however. First, regarding upgrades to the Town's electrical system, PEPCO reported that it is in the second year of a 5-year improvement program, which includes trimming trees, managing load growth, rerouting feeders to provide service redundancy, automating power distribution and placing selected power lines underground. While PEPCO crews were in Town performing post-storm repairs, they updated a major feeder line that services a large number of Town residences. And, as discussed in the article on page 5, PEPCO is currently in the Town trimming trees along several feeder lines and removing a number of trees that pose serious threats to power lines. Our arborist has reviewed and concurred with these removals. As a general rule, the Town is replacing removed trees directly under power lines with more compatibly-scaled, mid-sized trees. We have asked Pepco for additional information regarding other upgrades in the Town, and we will share that information with residents when we have it.

Second, we asked PEPCO about burying Town electrical lines, or, at the very least, burying some of the major feeder lines into the Town -- something I know many residents have raised with the Council. Pepco indicated that burying power lines costs somewhere between $2 million and $8 million per mile, depending on the existence of obstructions and public improvements, and the process is very long and disruptive to communities. As part of its 5 year improvement plan, PEPCO is burying some lines in its system, but these lines are selectively chosen based either on importance (i.e. providing service to critical facilities such as water treatment plants or hospitals) or continuous bad performance problems (i.e. more than 4.5 non-storm related outages per year, post upgrades). PEPCO shared data with us regarding outages in the Town over the last four years, and none of the lines in, or feeding into, the Town currently meet the criteria for burying. Burying lines is no guarantee against power outages in the future -- a large portion of the County's outages following the recent storm were in communities where lines are buried. Additionally, water poses a real hazard to the reliability of underground lines, and repairing them is much more difficult and time intensive.

The Town Council and staff will continue to push Pepco until our infrastructure updates are completed. We will then evaluate further possible steps to ensure even better reliability to our residents. We also will continue working with our elected officials to hold Pepco accountable for the reliability of the system and its response in times of weather crises.

I hope everyone had a great summer. It is hard to believe the kids are back in school already -- please be alert when driving on Town streets as students go to and from school.

Town and PEPCO Meet To Discuss Storm Response

As noted in the Mayor's report, Town officials met with PEPCO representatives in early August to discuss a variety of issues, including PEPCO's response to, and communication following, the June 29 storm. PEPCO officials described the company's efforts on these fronts and provided interesting details on the complexity of the response effort.

With respect to storm response, PEPCO officials indicated that priority was given to restoring power to critical facilities in the first few days following the storm. PEPCO crews worked to restore service to hospitals and water pumping stations before entering residential communities. This effort took approximately three days, which is why PEPCO crews were not seen in our neighborhood until Monday, July 2. At the meeting, Town officials noted that downed, live power lines in Town were not addressed until almost 5 days following the storm. PEPCO officials admitted that improvements need to be made in how the company assesses and responds to these situations. Town officials also noted that many of the out-of-state crews did not have proper maps or other information necessary to effectively respond to outages and suggested that PEPCO provide these crews with mobile computers containing feeder maps and a reporting mechanism to assist in restoring power and detailing progress with restoration.

Regarding communication, the Town pointed out that PEPCO representatives could not provide accurate power restoration times or updates on the progress of the crews during the outage. In addition, we noted that PEPCO's automated call system provided incorrect information to residents about power restoration. We suggested that PEPCO assign an in-field representative to the 11 Chevy Chase municipalities to provide more accurate and timely assessment, response, and restoration information to local governments. Town officials also suggested that PEPCO improve its online tracking and reporting capabilities to provide more accurate information to its customers. PEPCO officials said that the new smart meters installed on residents' homes would help in this effort and that the company is undertaking a pilot program to place sensors on select power lines to help identify the location and extent of power outages. The Town asked to participate in the pilot program when available.

As the Mayor's report indicates, PEPCO is in the second year of a 5-year improvement program. While no additional upgrades to the Town's feeder system are planned for this year, PEPCO is in the process of pruning and removing hazardous trees in Town (see article on page 5). PEPCO will inform the Town of future planned improvements to the Town's electrical system, and we will keep residents informed.

PEPCO Continues Tree Work in Town

In an effort to improve electric service reliability, PEPCO continues to work with the Town to remove and prune trees that interfere with power lines or exhibit hazardous conditions that might impact power lines. PEPCO has completed its first round of tree work, which included removing 10 public trees and 3 private trees with hazardous conditions, as well as pruning 7 public trees to provide clearance from power lines.

The Town recently gave permission to PEPCO to begin the final round of removals and pruning. Pepco requested the removal of 45 public trees in the rights-of-way and 6 private trees. The Town arborist conferred with the PEPCO arborist and agreed with removal of 21 of the public trees and the 6 private trees. All of these trees would have been removed by the Town in the near future because of hazardous conditions. The Town has requested that the remaining trees be pruned, rather than removed, to provide clearance from power lines. A map showing the locations of the trees to be removed and pruned, as well as an explanation of the work, have been posted on the Town website.

The Town will work very closely with PEPCO to ensure that the approved plan is followed. The trees indicated in the plan will be posted for removal or trimming in advance of any work being done. The Town plans to plant new trees near the locations of the removed trees in next year's planting cycle. If you have questions or would like to comment on this issue, please call the Town Office at 301-654-7144 to email [townoffice@townofchevy Chase.org](mailto:townoffice@townofchevy Chase.org).

Each of the committees addresses issues specific to a facet of Town governance. We will introduce you to the members of each of the committees in the October FORECAST and on the Town website.

Chevy Chase Lake Sector Plan Update

Long Range Planning Committee

On July 16, the Montgomery County Planning staff presented its draft plan for the future development of Chevy Chase Lake, located along Connecticut Avenue between East West Highway and Jones Bridge Road. The staff plan calls for development to occur in two phases, tied to the construction of the Purple Line, with a maximum of 1.5 million square feet of mixed-use development recommended for the Town Center (Starbucks/Chevy Chase Supermarket area). The staff plan also recommends that the majority of building heights be capped at 65 feet. This plan is in marked contrast to the developers' proposals, which request substantially more square footage and taller buildings.

Several members from the Town's Long Range Planning Committee attended the July 16 meeting, where, along with hearing the staff's presentation, the Planning Board heard testimony from each of the area's major property owners and from the public. Mayor Pat Burda testified on behalf of the Town. She stated: "The planning staff's goal of 'compatible growth with the well-established community character of Chevy Chase' is particularly laudable and will help allay community fears of blatant urbanization." However, she went on to note that 1.5 million square feet is a high starting point for negotiations with all four major land owners, especially in light of what they have outlined as their own development goals. "Unless the Planning Board and County Council hold fast to that original number," she testified, "we could be saying good-bye to 'compatible growth' and hello again to urbanization. If that is the case, you will have huge public outcry." She, along with other community representatives, raised serious concerns about impacts of additional growth on traffic and infrastructure.

The Planning Board discussed the draft plan in depth. They asked the staff to make presentations at a September 6 work session on three development scenarios: 1) the staff's recommendations; 2) the developers' proposal; and 3) an intermediate plan. After discussion at the September 6 meeting, the Planning Board will ask the staff to revise its draft and make a final proposal available one month before public testimony is taken in October. The Town will testify at the October meeting and will encourage residents to submit comments or come to testify as well. The final Planning Board staff draft will be posted on the Town website once it becomes available.

Links to the Planning Board Staff's first draft of the Chevy Chase Lake Sector Plan and to audio of the public testimony and the Planning Board's discussion are on the Town website.

Around Town

Permit Parking in the Town

Parking permits are issued to all residents who live on streets included in the permit parking program and are intended for vehicles parked within the vicinity of that address only. We remind you that the Town's parking permit program is designed to make sure that residents can find convenient parking in front of or close to their homes, especially those residents living adjacent to the Bethesda Urban District. Thanks for your cooperation to ensure that these residents enjoy the same benefits of the permit parking program as residents on other streets.

Doggie Do and Doggie Don't

Residents in the vicinity of Oakridge Avenue and Elm Street reported that dog owners/walkers are placing bagged dog feces in recycling bins that are at the curb for collection. Please remind your dog walkers of the regulations prohibiting this and remind them of the DOGIPOTS, which the Town has placed around the Town. Thank you for your cooperation in tackling this issue.

Overgrown Vegetation in the Town Rights-of-Way

Please take a minute to examine the public rights-of-way in front of your house to make sure that overgrown vegetation is not blocking the sidewalk. Trim all overhanging vegetation so there is approximately a seven foot clearance over the sidewalk and trim all vegetation so that it does not extend into the sidewalk and interfere with pedestrian traffic. Our goal is to make the Town as safe as possible for pedestrians of all ages, but especially for our young residents who are walking to and from Chevy Chase Elementary School and to bus stops.
